

Welcome to Oil Translator

Would you like to choose your own oil translator or interpreter? If so, then this site's for you. We are merchant-translators and interpreters who specialize in oil and gas. Membership is not offered to everyone. We are building a reputation--not as a company supplying all languages to all subjects--but as a useful resource for oil and gas, mining and geophysics, legal and engineering professionals and jobbers who sometimes need subject-specific language talent in the energy industry.

If you've ever paid for a bad translation or had to listen to a clueless interpreter, you are the customer we want--the customer who appreciates the difference. So if you are an oil exploration jobber, contractor or attorney, you are our customer of choice. We also work for government agencies and contractors specializing in organizing international events. We network when we need to and compete to bring you the performance you need to get the job done. Oiltranslator.com
